Status: Temporary, (February 13, 2017 – February 24, 2017)

Salary: $16/hour (88 total hours+ $30/day per diem for 11 days that includes travel to and from flagstaff.

Fred Phillips Consulting (FPC) is looking for a field technician for a fence construction project in Tseigi Canyon. Crew members will work 40 hours per week for 2 weeks. FPC specializes in awarding winning design including ecological restoration, parks, trails, wetland delineation, and environmental monitoring and compliance. Candidates for this position will be working in Tseigi Canyon to build livestock fencing. This position will include (but not be limited to) the following duties:

- Livestock Fence construction
- Remote wilderness camping
- Hard labor including: fence post installation, barbed wire work, heavy lifting, and moderate hiking

Successful candidates must be able to work in remote locations in challenging conditions, and work as part of a team. Experience with hand tools, manual labor, and field work is a must. Experience with chainsaws is a preferred. Experience with heavy machinery operation and native plant propagation a plus.

FPC will provide 10 days per diem at $30/day allowance and will pay for camping fees during the work week. If wanted Crew Members will be responsible for finding their own lodging, transportation and meals on 2 day weekends, but will be allowed to stay at the base camp in the canyon free of charge. Crew will not be paid for weekend time spent at camp, Field Crew Members are expected to provide their own transportation to and from Tseigi Canyon, at the start of the project, and the start of each work week. FPC will provide transportation to field sites during the week within the canyon and all hand tools necessary for completing the work. Candidates will be required to camp at remote locations during field work due to the location of the project. Crew Members will need to provide their own camping gear to use during the week. Some additional basecamp amenities will be provided, including a basecamp shelter and full basecamp kitchen. Crew is responsible for getting themselves to and from flagstaff where the trip will start and finish.
